Auto driver held over 'cow meat' complaint

Man falls to death after police show up to arrest him

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
GURGAON, MAY 3

AN AUTORICKSHAW driver was arrested by Gurgaon Police Wednesday for allegedly selling cow meat in Saraswati Kunj. Police said samples of the meat were sent for testing to Hissar. Police said the accused, Jaidul, was produced in a Gurgaon court on Thursday which remanded him to 14-day judicial custody.

"We received information that cow meat was being sold in the slums in Saraswati Kunj. We reached the spot and apprehended him," said Balraj, the Investigating Officer (IO) in the case. He added, "Samples of the meat have been sent for testing."

Residents claimed that Jaidul had purchased the meat for himself as well as neighbours. "The people who live in this area are poor labourers or domestic helps. They cannot go to the market everyday, or afford the auto ride to the meat shop. So they had asked him to get meat for all of them," said Wajid Khan, who heads the Nehru Yuva Sangathan Welfare Society Charitable Trust, and was approached by residents for help.

Khan added, "He had purchased the meat from a shop, and was told it was of a buffalo. If they suspect he has procured cow meat, they should trace it all the way back..."

In a purported video of the incident that has surfaced, Jaidul can be seen on his knees while a group of men confront him, demanding to know if the meat belongs to a cow, even as he says he was "told" it is buffalo meat.

While Gurgaon Police claimed to have "heard" of such a video, they said they have not seen it and it has not been made part of the investigation so far.

NEW DELHI, MAY 3

A 68-YEAR-OLD builder fell to death under mysterious circumstances just as a police team turned up at his Vasant Vihar home to arrest him in an alleged cheating case. While his family alleged foul play, police said they have registered a case under IPC Section 309 (attempted suicide).

According to police, Virendra Dhingra was an accused in a Rs 10 crore cheating case in south Delhi's CR Park. "He was accused of selling property that had already been sold to a person, who registered a case against him in January, 2017," a police officer said.

DCP (southwest) Milind Dumbere said Dhingra left behind a two-page suicide note. "He was an accused in a case of cheating in CR Park. He wrote that he was depressed due to money issues. We have registered a case and started the probe," he said.

Police said the incident took place on April 30. Around 9.30

Police came to arrest Virendra Dhingra on April 30 pm, a team consisting of a sub-inspector, head constable and constable from the CR Park police station went to Dhingra's house with an arrest warrant.

Police said when the team reached his house, his family said he wasn't home. Police said the officers then went to check if Dhingra was hiding in the servants' quarter on the third floor but found it locked from inside.

"In the meantime, they heard a loud noise and found Dhingra's body on the ground. Family members made a PCR call. Dhingra was taken to Fortis Hospital where he died during treatment," a police officer said. Police said a city court had issued a non-bailable warrant against Dhingra.

SC to DDA: Why did you decide to amend Master Plan

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
NEW DELHI, MAY 3

A SUPREME Court bench, monitoring the ongoing sealing drive in the capital, Thursday asked the Delhi Development Authority (DDA) to explain why it had decided to amend the Master Plan and give more Floor Area Ratio (FAR) to commercial complexes in 112 markets.

A bench comprising Justice Madan B Lokur and Justice Deepak Gupta observed that the situation in the capital on account of pollution, water scarcity and traffic congestion seems to have reached an "irreversible" situation.

It also said that the Delhi government will have to take steps in this regard.

On the move to increase FAR, the DDA said this was for the 112 shopping areas where government had permitted dual use of buildings in 1962, and where the ground floor was meant for commercial purposes and first floor for residential areas.

But the court said if this was allowed, huge construction could come up in Delhi and the DDA cannot "wish it away".

WAS DONE WITHOUT MY KNOWLEDGE, CONSENT: SAFDARJUNG COUNCILLOR Tomb to temple in 2 months: In south Delhi, a monument changes colours

SOMYA LAKHANI
NEW DELHI, MAY 3

FROM BEING the tomb of an unidentified person dating back to the Tughlaq dynasty to becoming Shiv Bhola temple two months ago, Gumti — a small, domed tomb in Safdarjung Enclave's Humayunpur village — is facing an identity crisis. The state-notified monument built on a mound, amid buildings and a park, was painted white and saffron in March, and idols placed inside it.

It is learnt that the work has been done in complete violation of the Citizen Charter of the Department of Archaeology, which states that one "cannot paint, draw or whitewash any wall in and around the monument" and "cannot hamper or spoil the originality of the monument".

While the Delhi government's Department of Archaeology could not be reached for a comment, a source called it a "major faux pas". Deputy Chief Minister Manish Sisodia said, "I have no information about this, I will ask the department concerned to conduct an inquiry and send me the report."

The Delhi Chapter of Indian National Trust for Art and Cultural Heritage (INTACH) was supposed to take up restoration work of the 15th-century monument, in collaboration with the Gumti, a small domed tomb in Safdarjung Enclave's Humayunpur village.

Poshali Goei

Archaeology department, last year. Ajay Kumar, projects director, INTACH-Delhi, "This was a locked monument and we were unable to start work there due to resistance from residents... we went with police but it didn't work out. Now it's become a temple and we've lost the monument."

Meanwhile, two saffron-coloured benches placed in the complex bear the name of BJP councillor from Safdarjung Enclave, Radhika Abrol Phogat.

However, Phogat told The Indian Express, "The structure was turned into a temple without my knowledge, consent or support. It was done with the connivance of the previous BJP councillor. I objected too, but it's a sensitive issue. With whatever that is going on in the country, one can't touch a temple. The benches with my name were initially in the park."

Swapna Liddle, convener, INTACH Delhi chapter, said, "Turning a monument into a religious structure is a land grab issue... the easiest thing to do is to turn it into a mandir or a mazar. We are not gatekeepers of the monument, we restore them. The protection has to be done by the state and then it should be handed over to us."

According to a 2010 notification by the state's Urban Development department, Gumti was notified as one of the 767 heritage sites, and received a grade-I listing. In 2014, the Archaeology department notified it again as a heritage site. Little is known about who was buried here or who built Gumti. But the architecture — pointed tip of the dome and absence of mihrab (a semi-circular niche in the wall) — points at either late-Tughlaq or early-Lodi period.

Kanika (19), a resident, said, "It was always a monument... in a bad state. I grew up thinking it was a tomb but then a few months ago, it became a temple."
